Planting Information

Caladium bulbs are safely planted outdoors when night time temperatures are consistently above 65 degrees. Hot days with cool nights can make for very slow germination. Caladium germination rates can range widely from as little as 2 weeks to over 12 weeks. The hotter the air and ground temperature when you plant the faster your caladiums will begin to put on their show.

Caladium bulbs should be planted about 2 inches under the soil. If sprouts are identifiable, plant in upright direction. If you have no idea about top and bottom, just plant it any which way and it will be OK.

Water moderately when first planted. A soil that retains some moisture, but does not allow the bulbs to have wet feet is ideal. Caladiums will let you know when they need watering once they are up.

Ideally, caladiums should be planted in a partially shaded area, but most are capable of growing in full sun. Caladiums grown in full sun will require more water and will have a bit shorter life span due to the harsher growing conditions.

Caladiums will grow in most soil types. Bulbs may not last for multiple seasons in less than ideal soils, but they will grow just fine for a single season (even in hostile mediums). Fertilizer, if needed, should be applied lightly. Caladiums like acid soils with an approximate Ph of 4.5 - 5.5. Slow release fertilizers work well with caladiums. "Miraculous growing" fertilizers are a popular choice with some gardeners and work well, but the heavy nitrogen content is notorious for changing caladium colors.

The following chart shows our recommended planting distances if you are planting a large bed. The spacing distances will typically result in a nice full bed with no gapping between plants. These same measurements also work for row planting.

Grade	Bulb Diameter	Planting Distance
#2	1"-1 1/2"	2"-4"
#1	1 1/2"-2 1/2"	4"-7"
Jumbo	2 1/2"-3 1/2"	8"-10"
